New Trophy Ridge Sights for 2018

Two new sights use the Trophy Ridge exclusive React Technology that automatically sights in all pins after only two pin adjustments. With a simple turn of an integrated knob or using an Allen wrench, sighting in a React sight is extremely easy, according to the company.

The React H4, at upper left, features React Technology, advanced toolless windage and elevation adjustments and second-axis leveling to strengthen accuracy over longer distances. This React sight is available to consumers at a retail price of under $100.

The all-new Alpha React 1, at lower left, introduces a .019 inch single-pin design with a unique inverted V-shape that naturally guides the eye to the target while not blocking vitals with the pin.

G5 Prime Logic

Prime Archery by G5 Outdoors is proud to introduce the Logic bow. The Logic applies the Centergy aiming process to a smaller 31 inch bow.

The 31 inch Logic features Prime's center grip design with a riser that is built around a lower center of gravity. Along with the unique riser design, the Prime Logic sports the "Swerve." The Swerve is a strategically placed curve in the riser that ensures the top and bottom portions of the riser move in unison.

Finally, the Logic incorporates stronger, shorter split limbs and a wider cam system. The MSRP is $1,199.

Air Venturi Frangible BBs

Air Venturi is proud to announce the release of Dust Devil BBs, which are frangible .177 caliber BBs. Dust Devils are 10 percent faster than traditional steel BBs, according to Air Venturi and they shatter on impact with hardened targets to reduce ricochets and provide an overall safer shooting experience.

Dust Devil BBs disintegrate into tiny fragments that safely crumble and fall instead of sending rounds bouncing back at the shooter. Their proprietary blend of special alloys create a round that is completely lead-free. The MSRP is $14.99 and the MAP is $9.99.
