

Knowledge Test

Across:

3. This "6M" model from Obsession is part of a high-performance line of compound hunting bows.
5. This highly efficient flagship offering from Elite has a smooth draw cycle with minimal loss of energy.
7. The Crossbow Retailer column this issue focuses on this manufacturer of the R20 and R10.
9. Larry Wise focuses on using this aid properly when shooting and training.
10. The last name of the brand manager for Bloodsport.
11. PSE's flagship aluminum riser speed bow for 2018, the Xpedite, is part of this series.
13. Neither the resistance-activated release aid or the back-tension _____ release aid has a trigger.
15. This company designs arrow wipe indicators and arrow wraps that will turn different colors depending on if an animal is struck in the vitals or the digestive tract, letting you know how soon to pursue a struck animal.
17. This broadhead system from Bloodsport pairs a universal ferrule with stainless-steel fixed blades in two designs.
18. This city in Pennsylvania, also known as "Chocolate Town," was host to the 2018 Kinsey's Dealer Show.

Answer key appears next issue.

Down:

1. This new Killzone model from New Archery Products has independent blades that transfer pressure to different regions of the blade.
2. The latest mechanical hunting broadhead offering from Allen, this product features blood ports in the ferrule to increase hemorrhaging.
4. The manufacturer of the Onyx, Justice and Prosecutor arrows.
6. If you look at an archer with proper holding position from above, you should see this part of the body in direct line with the arrow shaft.
8. The maker of the Spectra-e, which features an all-new Equalizer cable system.
12. The Carbon Trad arrow from this company features a natural woven linen fiber in the outer layer of its high-modulus carbon.
14. The _____ SD climbing treestand from Summit has a folding mesh seat and is designed to allow the hunter to shoot sitting down.
16. The Bear Kuma is part of this bow series, which is not sold in big-box stores and is only available through authorized dealers.

Solution for the April crossword.